UKRAINE
DECENT WORK COUNTRY PROGRAMME DOCUMENT
2008 - 2010

Introduction

The primary goal of the ILO is to promote opportunities for women and men to obtain decent and productive work in conditions of freedom, equity, security and human dignity. Decent work country programmes (DWCPs) promote decent work as a key component of development policies and at the same time as a national policy objective of governments and social partners. The present country programme is informed by international development agendas such as the Millennium Development Goals, as well as the United Nations Development Assistance Framework (UNDAF) based on the national development objectives. It also takes account of the priorities of the ILO constituents, as expressed in consultations held with them. The programme details the policies, strategies and results required to realise progress towards decent work for all. This document reflects the strategic planning of ILO cooperation activities with Ukraine for the biennium 2008-2009. Reflecting the constituents’ as well as the ILO experts’ assessment of past cooperation, the programme aims at ensuring greater synergies and stronger coherence of ILO activities in Ukraine and thus contribute to achieving sustainable impacts.

The programme has been developed in a participatory process with the involvement of tripartite constituents. The DWCP consists of a narrative part outlining the context, the lessons learned, the strategy of interventions and a logical model that details the interventions.

I. The current situation from a Decent Work perspective

II. Lessons learned from previous cooperation

During 2007 the ILO commissioned an independent evaluation of the ILO’s country programme of support to Ukraine 2000-06. The purpose of this evaluation was to provide an independent assessment of approaches taken, progress made and to identify lessons learned to inform future strategy development and improve the effectiveness of the next DWCP cycle.

According to the assessment the constituents unanimously confirmed the relevance and importance of ILO’s interventions. They stated that they have high regard for the ILO. The ILO has been flexible and responsive to emerging situations and demands although there were many unpredictable political changes.

The findings also said that the decent work approach as a coherent framework needs to be given more emphasis in the future. The monitoring of the DWCP implementation needs to be more efficient and effective. In order to address these issues and increase ownership a Tripartite DWCP Board will be established. The Board will have a role to promote the programme, monitor its implementation and initiate adjustments if necessary.

More attention should be paid to long-term strategic support, especially for skills development, vocational training, and methodologies for forecasting social and labour developments, or other areas where ILO has good knowledge and well recognised expertise. In order to address this issue, it has been decided to extend the period of the DWCP to three years and allow for longer term planning.

The review has found that the Decent Work agenda continues to be of high relevance it should continue to be the focus of ILO interventions in Ukraine. The Decent Work as a theme needs to be strengthened in the UNDAF as well. The ILO will use the opportunity of the mid term review in 2008 to have this issue highlighted.
There is a demand to include social insurance and social protection and labour market flexibility in the programme.

The social partners expressed a need to learn more about more active involvement of employers’ organisations and trade unions in decent work by providing more information about what other European Union countries do in this respect.

The dissemination of good practices should be further encouraged. The ILO will promote more the positive experience of the pilot projects as a basis to mainstream initiatives more widely in the country - as requested by the constituents.

Some of the main results of the 2006-07 DWCP:

- A draft Labour Code prepared with ILO support is ready for a second reading in Parliament.
- A law on social dialogue, prepared with the assistance of the ILO, was adopted by Verkhovna Rada in a second/final reading on 7 June 2007. However, more work would be needed to help Ukraine enforce this law once it comes into force. Public and more targeted awareness raised of the need for reform and consensus in labour relations.
- Improved practice towards better enforcement of labour law, and progress towards a sound legal framework for social dialogue through deepened legal knowledge.
- Labour inspection equipped with new computerized system for tracking labour rights violations.
- ILO projects became an important means for wider social debate and creative discussions between social partners and civil society, and a place where useful contacts were established and further activities planned.
- The modular vocational training programme has been sustained and expanded. It has demonstrated its effectiveness in improving employability, job placement and business activities.
- High-level discussions to develop a comprehensive policy on labour migration, with focus on aspects related to reducing the scale of trafficking in women from the Ukraine.
- Wider public awareness of the negative effects and consequences of illegal employment outside the country.
- Acceptance by authorities of new measures linked to social income, labour costs, poverty and income inequality.
- Model of socio-economic impact of HIV/AIDS in Ukraine developed and currently being updated and improved.
- Heightened awareness, changed attitudes and improved institutional capacities towards eradicating the worst forms of child labour.
- Enhanced policy and legal frameworks at national level to eradicate child labour; initial progress at local level in supporting multidisciplinary teams and peer educators, as well as rehabilitation services and employment opportunities.
